

Air Conditioning Systems

What is a secondary drain or emergency drain?

The secondary drain or emergency drain is the drain that is connected to your emergency pan. If your primary drain were to stop up, the condensate water should flow into your emergency pan. The water that fills up in the pan should then flow out of this drain, most likely located in a gable or soffit.

Unique solution ID: #1037

Author:

Last update: 2014-10-01 03:59